

For the very first time, a Twilight Ticket is on offer for this year's show, meaning people can enjoy Ekka for half price from 6pm until late as they watch the sun go down.*

For just $16 a ticket, half the price of an adult pass, anyone over the age of four (those under four get in free) can enter the show from 6pm - and they're guaranteed to find plenty to do and see after dark, including:

- Being wowed by the action-packed night show EkkaNITES
- Bringing the kids to see the new and colourful children's fireworks
- Going on a foodie adventure and enjoying a few drinks in Woolworths Fresh Food Pavilion, including the new craft beer alley. The pavilion is now open until 9pm - an extra hour and a half than last year!
- Tasting food from around the globe at Gourmet Plaza, while listening and dancing to the bands on stage
- Enjoying Australia's best steak, lamb, wines and cheeses at Ekka's famous Royal Queensland Steakhouse presented by JBS Australia, which is also now open until 9pm
- Braving the big rides in Sideshow Alley, including the new Beast which has a swing of 45 metre high

The Twilight Ticket is perfect for an after-work or after-school Ekka trip and is expected to be a hit.

Due to their popularity last year the Super Ride Tuesday and Super Food Sunday tickets are back for a second year.

It means families can purchase 2 for 1 rides on Tuesday August 15 and 2 for 1 food items on Sunday August 20, while enjoying 15 per cent off entry online for those two days of show.

While the two day pass, which sees visitors return for a second day at half price, will also make a return after its successful debut last year.

And of course, the family value packs are back offering savings of up to $70.

The RNA has also kept online ticket prices at 2016 rates for the 10 days of show, helping to ensure Queensland's most loved event remains the cheapest of its kind.
